City Out of Funds for Sewage Plant Planning

City funds for engineering work on Granite City's secondary sewage treatment plant are depleted and the city will be unable to meet a deadline for secondary treatment unless state and federal funds are allocated, Mayor Donald Partney has informed George Romney, secretary of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Partney said in the letter, copies of which were sent to federal state and district legislators, that the city already has spent $202,000 for engineering work on secondary sewage treatment plans, and that further work on the program has been held up by the planning agencies.

Copies of the mayor's letter were sent to U.S. Senators Charles Percy and Adlai Stevenson, Congressman Melvin Price, State Senator Sam Vadalabene, State Representatives

News Notes - Lottery Proposed, Governor Nominees Hold Debate

Will Illinois become the seventh state to establish a lottery. Rep. David Regner, Mount Prospect Republican, chairman of the Illinois House Appropriations Committee, said Friday some form of state lottery will pass the House. His staff is researching technical problems and financial possibilities.

The House Executive Committee has recommended a lottery and there are estimates of $100 million yearly revenue from it, with perhaps 30% going to schools. Regner says surveys show 60% public backing for such a plan.

Governor Richard B. Ogilvie (R) and the other nominee for his office, Daniel Walker (D) debated during the weekend with Ogilvie chiding his rival for talking of lower taxes but failing to say how or where. Walker accused the governor of refusing to criticize regulations associated with race tracks.

With objections voiced by St. Elizabeth Hospital of Granite City and the Alliance for Regional Community Health, the Illinois Hospital Advisory Council on Thursday delayed action on a federal fund request by the proposed Oliver C. Anderson Hospital on Route 198.

Both sides were asked to return for more discussion at a meeting tentatively set for June 1. ARCH, regional health planning agency said the 123-bed, $6½ million project is not needed; the local hospital said its patient load and finances would be jeopardized.

Residents of unincorporated areas are being advised of a crackdown on vehicular speed.

ing. Two of Sheriff John Macra's new radar units will be concentrated in rural areas, particularly school and residential zones. It is planned to stop issuing warning notices and begin issuing arrest tickets.

Alexander MacArthur, Illinois Racing Board chairman, said Saturday the board will study Chokila Downs horse race track land trust arrangements as part of the state and national investigation of the Emprise Corp. concession firm.

A three-count murder indictment was returned Friday by the Madison County Grand Jury against David Ruthenberg, 27, a Collinsville attorney, while he was defending a client elsewhere in the Courthouse. He is to appear this afternoon to hear the indictment, related to the December death of William Wells, a Glen Carbon insurance investigator.

The state plans to finance two crime laboratories, one for Cook County and one for Madison St. Clair Counties, the Southern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission has been informed. The regional laboratory is to have a two-man staff and could be in operation by late 1972.

The Illinois Senate on Thursday dropped from its calendar a bill requiring disclosure of political campaign donations. Restoration of every-other-year Assembly sessions was approved 15-8 by the House Executive Committee, and another measure proposing changing the March primary to May. The Senate Executive Committee

Cub Pack 13 Hears Plans for Events

Plans to attend the Cardinal baseball game in St. Louis Wednesday night and for a trip to Onadaga Cave on May 21 were outlined to Cub Scouts of Pack 13 in the last meeting of the season in the St. Elizabeth Church cafeteria Thursday.

Francis Rozycki announced that each den will be responsible for transportation of its own members to the baseball game. A bus will take the boys to the cave on May 21 and will leave the church at 8:30 a.m., returning about 4:30 p.m. Parents were asked to notify pack leaders if their youngsters plan to make the trip.

Mrs. Edward Yenscho who reported on the cave trip said the boys should each bring a sack lunch. Cubs were instructed to wear their uniforms for both the baseball game and the trip to the cave.

Plans also were discussed for the annual Cub Scout picnic June 11 at Woodlawn Park, Collinsville. Each den leader will name a parent to serve on the committee.

The work consists of typing names and addresses on a postcard type report. Speed is not essential, Mrs. Barth said, noting that this work would be excellent exercise for high school students who wish to practice, or a worthwhile brush-up activity for older persons who have let their typing skills become "rusty."

Beth manual and electric typewriters are available in the association's offices.

New Bill Would Shift School Cost to State

The House Education Committee Thursday heard arguments on HB 4561 from Rolland P. Tiptow (D-Taylorville) to remove the public school levy for the education and building funds from the property tax assessment.

This bill would result in a 60 to 70% reduction in property taxes in Illinois. It gives to the legislature two years to effect replacement from state funds and to determine where state expenditures can be reduced to accommodate part of the financing for public schools.

Tiptow urged that the legislature recognize the obligation to reduce local property taxes and to fund public schools, and to accomplish this result with due deliberation and consideration of all alternatives.

The bill is sponsored and supported by several Democratic members of the House, including State Representative Horace Calvo, (D-Granite City). The House Education Committee held the bill in committee for further consideration.

Ogilvie Urges District Voting on Nonpartisan Selection of Judges

By GOVERNOR
RICHAUD B. OGILVIE

In the past few years, as the severe challenges to state government have been met, our courts have assumed a far more important role than in the past.

In one major decision after another, Illinois courts have proven the wisdom of the trust stated by Chief Justice Holmes.

The law, said Holmes, means what the judges say it means.

We have seen an increasing activism in our courts, which reflects in part the greater activity and innovation in state government in the past few years.

During this same period, we have seen an increasing amount of public cynicism and dissatisfaction with government in general and with certain judicial figures.

The competence of our courts is always a legitimate concern, but it is even more important when viewed against events of the past few years.

We must strive — again and again, if need be — for the finest judicial process available, particularly if our courts continue to rule on major cases, sometimes against the public will.

The integrity of our courts — and the people's trust in that integrity — are vital to the citizen's belief in all aspects of our government.

For many citizens, the most common point of contact with their government is in the processes of the law.

Thus their faith rests in no small part on how they view the law — and its application. Men and women, after all, interpret the law, apply the law, and give it life, whether for good or evil.

I continue to view the need for the selection of judges on merit alone as the first and most compelling need of our courts.

We can and have refined and improved the laws of Illinois. We have sharpened administrative procedures which can make the laws work as intended.

But without judges of the highest integrity, ability and independence, we will have failed in our efforts to protect both our citizens and the judicial process.

Many plans have been proposed for merit selection, but at the heart of each is the non-political selection of judges by competent and impartial persons.

To put such a proposition before the people will require the affirmative vote of three-fifths of the members of the General Assembly.

The record of the past indicates this is a tough requirement to meet.

Thus, I think the time is ripe to discuss a temporary alternative.

Let us allow the people of each district to vote for or against nonpartisan election of judges.

Such a referendum of the people would require only a majority vote in the General Assembly, a far more achievable goal at this time.

Opponents of the merit selection plan always insist that the people should have the right to choose.

Fine I say, let them choose. And one of the choices should be for or against nonpartisan elections.

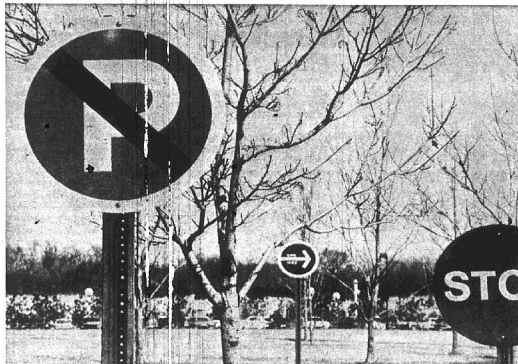

I have spoken time and again against the intrusion of party politics in the process of selecting judicial candidates.

And my staff does not imply any lack of belief in the necessity of the party system itself.

But the selection of candidates by the parties far too often results in the elevation of mediocrities as a reward for their service to their parties.

Courts are far too important to let this abuse continue. And the starting point for reform would be to allow the voters of each judicial district the opportunity to vote for nonpartisan elections.

This would be a great step forward in the fight to end party control of our judges, and to secure better and more independent judges.

"NO PARKING" — "ONE WAY" — "STOP" — The traffic signs in use at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern are modified versions of the international signs which become mandatory in this country by the end of 1974. The signs will help persons of different countries drive safely wherever they go.

New Traffic Signals In Use at Campus Here

If you drive on the campus of Southern Illinois University-Southwestern, you have a jump on other American drivers. Because international traffic signs become mandatory by the end of 1974.

The university has been using modified versions of the international traffic markers since 1968.

Every major country in the world — except the United States — adopted the uniform system in 1968 at the United Nations Conference on Road Traffic.

The international signs are designed to be understandable through an image, rather than words, so that peoples of different countries can drive safely wherever they go.

Some of the new signs in this country will bear written inscriptions, but these will be phased out gradually as drivers become accustomed to the symbols.

Signs which warn against doing something, like "do not enter," and "no right turn," will feature a round symbol on a square sign. "Do not enter," vivid blue diagonal bar in a circle, the standard symbol for "do not."

Illinois and Missouri drivers will still have something of an advantage over other American drivers. The two states are among the first 11 in the nation to begin phasing in the new turn arrow overlaid with a

Reform Must Include Tax Relief -- Howlett

Any program for tax reform must include tax relief, Michael J. Howlett, Democratic candidate for secretary of state, said Friday.

Howlett was the featured speaker at a luncheon of the Illinois Democratic Women's caucus, downstate division, at Augustine's Restaurant.

Howlett told the outpouring of Republican crossover and independent voters into the Democratic primary March 21 reflected dissatisfaction with Republican administration.

transformation at national and state levels.

"People resent rising prices at a time when unemployment is hitting new 10-year peaks," said Howlett.

"Housewives can't be expected to have much confidence in a wage-price stabilization program that lets rents and prices keep rising while thousands of job seekers walk the streets."

"Women have ways to meet rising costs of food and clothing. They can switch from lamb chops to hamburgers, and they can cut last year's jeans down to Bermudas."

"But they are angry about taxes and rising government costs too. And they had another route to express their feelings — the ballot box."

"The thunderous Democratic primary vote was a shock throughout Illinois. The people seemed to be saying there is something wrong with the way government is spending their money."

"The people seemed to be saying they can wait for tax reform but want tax relief right away."

"Tax reform is important."

We must find more equitable ways of sharing the burden of government costs.

"But tax reform must include tax relief. We must keep taxes down, not just find new ways of spreading the load."

"State and local governments collected $100 billion in taxes in the United States last year. That was an increase of 10 percent from 1970."

"We have to reduce the cost of government by increasing the productivity of government employees and by eliminating waste and duplication of services."

Howlett said the cost of state government has doubled and reduced since he took office as Auditor of Public Accounts on Jan. 9, 1961.

But his own office, he said, is writing checks at a lower unit cost, with a doubling of productivity per employee.

State government has nearly doubled its work force, he said, but his office is doing more work than before, with fewer employees.

An secretary of state, he will extend to a much larger office the business principles which helped him make a record in the auditor's office, he said.

EMPHYSEMA IS NOW A MAJOR DISEASE

In the past ten years, deaths from emphysema almost tripled and in the past five years, the number of new emphysema patients has more than doubled. In simple terms, emphysema occurs when the walls of the lungs break down, the blood vessels and elastic tissue in the walls disappear and the bronchial tubes become flabby and collapse. This obstructs the flow of air into and out of the lungs, causing labored breathing. It comes on very slowly and at first there are no symptoms.

Although there is no cure, because you cannot reverse tissue damage, there is treatment to hold down further deterioration. Bracing, breathing and special devices such as nebulizers are part of the overall treatment plan. If you have any trouble breathing see your doctor at once.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a doctor. We will deliver your doctor's orders. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge account.

Expanded Service by Church Sisters Cited

Two representatives of the Springfield Sisters' Senate participated in the second national convention of the National Assembly of Women Religious ending last week in Minneapolis. Sister Susan Leopold, Quincy, chairman of the Sister's Senate, and Sister Joan Schullian, Springfield, co-chairman, joined over 500 members of NAWR from 46 states and 131 cities in focusing on the future of religious women with a theme, "Women in a Ministry of Possibilities."

Archbishop Leo C. Byrne spoke on the emerging role of women in society. Coadjutor archbishop of the Archdiocese of St. Paul-Minneapolis, he is chairman of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops Ad Hoc Committee on the Status of Women in the Church and Society.

He said he is seeking full study, both theologically and sociologically, of the whole area of women in the ministry of the church. "It is wrong," he said, "to say that women in the Catholic Church do not already participate in the church's ministry."

Looking to the changing role of women in society and the church, the assembled delegates recognized the present trend of Sisters to enlarge their areas of ministry.

Traditionally serving in education, health and social welfare fields, Sisters are now supported in their commitments to political action, pastoral ministry, mass media and work with the aging, runaway youths, prisoners, migrants, chronically dependent, alcoholics and minority groups.

Being aware of the world's church framework within which they would act, the NAWR delegates passed resolutions calling for support of effective local and national policies on liberating oppressed peoples; acceptance of women in full participation in the diaconate and priesthood; involvement of Sisters in the political decision-making that determines their educational contributions; opposition to the Vietnam war; and support of Jewish people of the U. S. who are promoting religious freedom for Soviet Jewry.

The convention, in addition to orienting Sisters to present needs, offered suggestions of current implementations. The Sisters were informed through meetings and workshops of experimental programs now in operation. Future societal needs projected by specialists were suggested as areas of involvement open to Sisters.

NAWR represents 3,000 individual Sisters and 68 Sisters' Senates in the U. S. Sister Ethne Kennedy, NAWR chairman, envisions the organization as "a network bringing Sisters together in mutual support, common concerns and a united voice for the cause of Jesus Christ."

Chicago Cage Star Signs Here

Coach Jim Dudley of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is still looking for that towering prep or junior college basketball player for next season, but he's having very good luck signing some dead-end shooters.

Most recent is Jim Oleksy of Chicago's St. Patrick High School, which is a member of the prestigious Suburban Catholic Conference.

Oleksy, a 6-3 forward, has signed a letter of intent to enroll at SIU-SW next fall.

Oleksy shot 51% from the floor and hit 74% from the free throw line. In addition, the 18-year-old cager averaged 10 rebounds a game. He weighs 190.

Oleksy was named to numerous all-star teams, including the Carbondale Holiday all-tourney team. He led the Suburban Catholic Conference in scoring, averaging 22.3 points per game. He was on the first all-conference team and was picked on several state-wide teams.

Cougars Sweep 3 of 4 Tilts From Buckeyes, Roll On

The Southern Illinois University-Southwestern bench went after Cougar southpaw hurler, Mike Dickey, forced Ohio State University's last batter, Steve Day, to pop up on an infield fly for the last out Saturday afternoon.

The Cougars baseballers had just swept a doubleheader from the Buckeyes of the prestigious Big Ten, coming from behind to win the opener, 11-0, and coasting to an 8-5 victory in the nightcap. The day before, SIU-SW had split with Ohio State, winning the opener on a three-hit 4-0 shutout masterpiece by the Cougars' lanky right-hander, Middleton, and dropping the second one, 8-6.

So there was ample reason for the Cougar players' jubilation Saturday after the twinned victories. They just took three-out-of-four from Ohio State and, in the process, ran their record to 22-10, for a season with eight more games to go.

It also was the third straight season in which Coach Roy E. Lee's Cougars have won 20 or more games. And, since becoming eligible for post-season tournament play in the National Collegiate Athletic Association three years ago, the Cougars have won two straight bids.

They are shooting for their third straight tourney berth to represent the 10-state Midwest Region in the national college division NCAA tournament, which will be held at Springfield early in June.

Coach Lee was obviously elated Saturday, but being a veteran of many baseball wars, he had a word of caution for his whooping and joyful players: "We've got eight more games, you guys," he warned, "and they'll all be out to knock us off."

"It'll be a home twinned Wednesday against a very strong MacMurray College team." Then on Friday and Saturday of this week, Coach Dick Pavlow will bring his surging Western Illinois University Leathernecks to Cougar Field for a pair of twinned games.

And Western are hoping for the NCAA tourney bid along with SIU-SW.

After the four-game series with Western Illinois, the Cougars will conclude their regular schedule Wednesday, May 17, on the road with a twinned at Eastern Illinois University. It will be the first meeting of the two schools in baseball, although their soccer teams have battled it out for three seasons.

In their three victories over Ohio State, the Cougars had a flock of heroes: Middleton's hurling in the opener and his game-winning relief job in the SIU-SW 11-0 victory Saturday to run his record to 5-3 were superb; performances as was Sam Stewart's relief hurling.

Freshman Joe Restoff turned in two brilliant relief stints, but it was a tribute to SIU-SW bench strength as both coaches, Karow of the Buckeyes, pulled out all the stops in moves and counter moves.

Good Bat Girls
In the 11-0 victory Saturday, Lee would have had to call on one of the Fielders Choices (SIU-SW coed bat girls) if Pat Peterson had not driven in the Cougars' winning run when he did.

Restoff's relief pitching, in two games, merits high praise. He looked brilliant in relief of Don Rains Saturday as he faced six Buckeyes and fanned two and didn't allow a hit. In his fifth inning appearance Friday, the former Assumption High grad fanned one and gave up a scratch infield single, but no runs.

Another bright note for the Cougars was the return to play of their veteran third baseman, Mike Allaria, senior from Edwardsville. Despite agonizing pain in a broken finger on his glove hand, Allaria scored seven runs, his safely twice (one a double), and was walked 10 times to raise his season total free passes to 32. He was a little shaky in the field in the first game, but settled down the remainder of the series.

SIU-SW's 300-plus hitters going into the Ohio State series continued to hit, but received help from the bench in the 11-0 cliff-hanger. Allaria is hitting .381; Dan Cole, who got his second homer in the new part, is back over .300; Bill Campbell upped his average to .261; Tom Twellman stayed at .251; Jo Jo Crenshaw of Winfield, Mo., playing on an extremely painful left knee, kept his average at .340; and catcher Tim Summers remained at .332.

Only starter for the Cougars not hitting .300 is centerfielder Bobby Graves, who is filling in for the red-shirted Jerry Plesner of Collinsville, who led the 1971 Cougars with a .382 average.

Hurling Hopes
Graves' ball-hawking, however, has saved a flock of enemy hits and runs. Ron Rohlfing stayed around the mound and his big bat is a constant threat. Jan Dishinger, Centennial, is hitting at a .400 clip, can't break into the regular line-up, but has been invaluable in the field and at bat.

Only hurling mays the Cougars' hopes for a national title. Steve Malone, the winless pitcher on the SIU-SW staff for the past three years, has been spotted and largely ineffective in his last two starts as has Don Rains, the Cougars' top hurler (4-1). Rains, Lee's first game, seemed to be bolstered by the high winds (quitting up to 30 miles) and the Buckeyes' pitcher on him for four runs in the first frame.

Coach Lee still appears to have confidence in right-hander Ken Stanley. Stanley's Dismarex transfer always seems to be struggling and in trouble and has an astronomical 6.15 earned run average. Righie Dale Wilderspin, a JC transfer, is 3-2 and has had spots where he looked like he may be the man to take Rains' spot next year, but then he runs into trouble.

Sam Stewart, 2-0 and with two saves, has looked like the best pitcher the Cougars have this season, but Lee wants to save him for the bull pen. Lefty Stan Hawkins' pitching has also hurt, but may force Lee to bring up William "Nick" Balz, towering (6-5) freshman from the JVs before the tourneys.

The Floa Flash, Mike Dickey, posted his fourth straight victory with one defeat and lowered his ERA to 1.30 with his triumph over Ohio. Only two Buckeyes runs were earned.

Baseball, like most sports, is made up of intangible values. Take the value of John Belk, senior shortstop and team captain of the Cougars. In SIU-SW's last four games, he played in three games; he was at bat two times, scored twice, got an infield hit, but was credited with two RBIs. But he's a leader and his teammates respond to him and deliver.

Grigsby Team Injuries Plague MHS Drops Marathon At Triangular Meet

The longest game of the school baseball season so far was played by the Grigsby Ninth graders against Edwardsville Thursday afternoon.

After 16 innings the local team felt victim to fatigue and lost 6-4.

Grigsby was behind 2-0 in the sixth when with Gene Logus on base, Joe Peacher tied the game with a home run. In the 13th, Grigsby again came from behind when Ron Tanner tripled sending in Logus, to make it 3-3.

A Grigsby error in the 16th with two out and a home run by Edwardsville iced the game.

Davis pitched 13 innings, fanning nine and allowing only one intentional walk.

Hanna Bowls Perfect Game

Henry Hanna of 2412 Iowa St. bowled a perfect 300 game in the League Sweepstakes competition at Bowland Friday evening.

Rick Knepler, Race Driver, Killed in Four-Car Pileup

Veteran race car driver, Rick Knepler, 25, of Old Berlin, Ill., was injured fatally in a four-car pileup during a super-sprint car race at the Tri-City Speedway Friday night. He died of head injuries in the intensive care unit of Falmouth Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, at 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Mary's Catholic Church in New Berlin. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery there.

Mr. Knepler's No. 86 car started on the outside of the second row in the first heat race and in the first turn, his car collided with the car of Ronnie Taylor, St. Louis. Both cars tumbled end-over-end. The cars of Ronnie Melton, Jacksonville, and Tom Corbin, Carlinston, were unable to avoid striking the two cars.

Mr. Knepler's protective helmet broke in the crash and was thrown out of the car. Other drivers and emergency crews at the race track pulled Mr. Knepler from his car and he was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital with head injuries before being transferred to the St. Louis Hospital.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Breeding Knepler of New Berlin, and two brothers, John T. Knepler of Auburn, Ill., and David A. Knepler of New Berlin.

Jimmy Moughon of Springfield was the winner of the super sprint feature race after Jerry Camfield of Argenta had the misfortune of having his engine blow on the final lap while leading the pack.

He led from early in the race through the white flag, but on the back straight, with only one-quarter of a mile left to victory, his car lost power and Moughon passed on the outside. Camfield's car coasted to the finish line, but the driver had to get out and push it the last few feet to finish the race. He was officially listed as eighth in the event.

Tom Corbin was second and Tom Smith of St. Louis finished third.

In the late model stock car feature event, Bill Myers of Rosewood Heights, broke the two-feature winning streak of Wib Spalding of Ponton Beach. Spalding's Camaro engine blew before the feature.

Louie Jansen of Bethalto and Bob Buchanan of East Alton raced wheel-to-wheel through most of the feature for second place with Jerry Camfield and C. C. Corbin of East Alton also making bids for the spot. Jansen finished second, trailed by Buchanan.

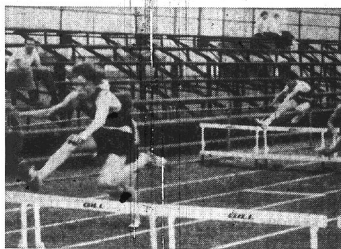

Spalding was the fastest qualifier of the evening in the stock cars with a half-mile lap of 27.19 seconds. Myers was second and Jansen was third.

In the super-sprint race, Jerry Camfield turned in a lap of 23.99 seconds with Melton second and Tom Corbin third.

Taylor won the sprint handicapped event with Camfield second and Corbin third. Heat winners were Jerry Camfield, David Camfield of Argenta and Ollie Runyon of Decatur.

Late model heat winners were Spalding, Corbin and Dennis Newlin of Clinton.

The super-sprints and late model stocks will compete again next Friday. Qualifications will begin at 7:30 p.m. with racing at 8:30 p.m.

HIGH STEPPING Rick Demaree of Prather clears the last of 10 hurdles in preliminary events at Friday's Conference track meet at Granite City High School. Demaree won this qualifying heat and placed second in the eighth grade finals of the event.

GOMPHI was the sound made by Chris Gaddie of Grigsby as he landed after long-jumping 14' 2" in Friday's conference track meet.

UP AND OVER! George Wilkins of Coolidge clears 4' 8" in the finals of the high jump competition here Friday. Wilkins failed to place in the top finishers in the event as the bar was raised to 5'3" before a winner was declared.

ALAISTER G. SMITH

Christian Science Lecture Thursday

"In today's world of violence and tension, can freedom be combined with justice?" is the question to be explored in a public lecture at 8 p.m. Thursday by Alastair G. Smith, C.S.B., San Francisco. A member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Smith, will speak on the subject, "A Basis for Justice" at the First Church of Christ Scientist, 2560 Delmar Ave. He will bring out that in the search for freedom and justice, self-seeking motives and lack of restraint "can bring us the very opposite of what we seek. They can open the way for worse evils, for more severe social and economic tyrannies from either the far left or the far right of the political spectrum. They can lead us straight back to a caveman society."

Several illustrations of how the search for justice with freedom can be carried out are to be shared in the lecture. They include the experience of a lawyer faced with an unjust court decision and the experience of two college students—one confronted with a disease of the blood termed incurable and the other with severe campus strife.

A native of Portland, Oregon, Smith is a Christian Science teacher and practitioner. After graduating from Harvard University, he served as a naval officer during World War II. Following the war, he worked as a sales representative for several national organizations. In 1954 he left the business field to enter the healing ministry of Christian Science.

Interested in youth, Smith served from 1956 to 1961 as a Christian Science Minister for the Armed Services in the San Francisco Bay Area. He became a Christian Science teacher in 1961 and a Christian Science lecturer in 1970. His local lecture will last about an hour. The public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Bernadine Cooley, a co-chairman of the event, welcomed the guests, and Mrs. James Henderson and Mrs. Leonard Roberts presented readings in keeping with the theme, "Behold the Woman." Recognition was given by Mrs. Fred Rupp, president of Church Women United, to Mrs. Bethel Davis, who conducted a mission for many years in Granite City. Mrs. Davis, who is ill and was absent was honored for her years dedicated religious work in the Quad-Cities.

The Schermer Bulletin . . .

This week at Schermers we have the ideal gifts for Mom on Mother's Day. Umbrellas from $1.19 to $1.98. The $1.98 umbrella is a regular $3.49 value. Panty hose - 2 pair for 99¢. Also, we still have several dozen Fullmax steam hair setters left at $7.98. Any woman would be pleased with a new steam hair setter for Mother's Day, and it is a $15.95 seller at most department stores. If these values aren't sufficient, shop our crystal room in The Garden Shop for an even larger selection of gifts and floral arrangements.

Two customers asked for avocado salad dressing. We thought at first we would not be able to locate it, but as usual we did find a company that makes it in San Francisco, California. It is now available in our produce department next to the lettuce and other "makings" for salads.

We know many of our customers have a "favorite clerk" at Schermers. If you cannot find him or her at some time during the next few months it is probably because of vacations. Be patient and they will return. The way our employees work to satisfy you - our customers, they earn their vacations. ## Retiree Group Urges School Tax Change

Two members of the Granite City Chapter of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees (NARFE) were appointed to serve on state committees at a meeting of the Illinois NARFE Chapters in Elginham, where more than 22 delegates attended the three-day meeting, which concluded Friday.

Edward Erney, past president of the local chapter, will serve on the Time and Place Committee and Walter Franklin was named to the Rules Committee.

Several resolutions were adopted by the state delegates and will be submitted for consideration at the national convention set in September at Fort Worth, Tex.

One resolution seeks to change school funding statutes and asks that taxes to support schools be levied on the basis of income tax, rather than the present property tax method. Revision of the statutes should provide more equitable taxation, the retired federal delegates decided.

A total of 30,000 retired government employees reside in Illinois, it was reported.

Attending the convention from here were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Erney, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Franklin and Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Johnson. Johnson is president of the local NARFE chapter.

Added SIU Presidential Duties Are Real, Not a Device to Justify High Pay Boosts

Exactly how much salary the Southern Illinois University trustees should be paid is not a question that would be easy for laymen to answer. But citizens can attest to the fact that title changes given the administrators were not merely "window dressing" used as an excuse for raises exceeding the 5 1/2% national guideline.

What is involved is the transition from a single university having two campuses to the present situation of two separate universities governed by a single board.

As everyone recalls, SIU at Carbondale expanded under the leadership of President Delyte Morris and then in the early 1960s established the Southwestern campus in Madison County.

When his service ended, the upgrading of Carbondale and SIU-SW chancellors to two presidential positions was not done lightly. It did not constitute a meaningless promotion; it was not a whim or a way of expressing pointlessness.

What happened was that the passage of time, the growth of the two campuses and the judgement of SIU trustees all supported the concept of designating two separate institutions, different not only in their 100-mile-apart geographic locations but also in their methods and services and goals.

In becoming presidents, Dr. John Rendleman and Dr. David Derge shouldered burdens and functions far more comprehensive than the responsibilities formerly borne by chancellors.

There was, but there is not and will not be a centralized president. Decentralization has become a reality, and this fact should be obvious to federal wage officials and others critical of the pay levels set by the SIU board.

Ahead in Delegates and Campaign Deficits

An April 27 report from Washington shows that Senator McGovern and Senator Humphrey, winners of the Massachusetts and Pennsylvania Democratic presidential primaries, had a combined campaign deficit of nearly $1 million at the time of those elections.

Senator Muskie of Maine, who has since dropped out of the primaries, and Senator Jackson of Washington, who has failed to make much visible progress toward winning the nomination, both were "solidly in the black," their spending reports showed.

There must be a moral there somewhere.

This Week in America's History

1772—Perhaps in part because Philadelphia was the meeting place of the Continental Congress in 1774 and 1775, Pennsylvania itself had more representatives in those sessions than any other colony, including nine signers of the Declaration of Independence.

It also had more signers of the Constitution than any other state. In 1787, eight in all, including four who had signed the Declaration of Independence.

The Pennsylvania signers of both documents were Benjamin Franklin, Robert Morris, George Clymer and James Wilson.

The signers of the Declaration also were Benjamin Rush, John Morton, James Smith, George Taylor and George Ross.

In addition, Pennsylvania had two later delegates to the Congress—Thomas Mifflin and Arthur St. Clair—both serving as its president in 1783 and 1785, respectively, and Mifflin also was a member of the Constitutional Convention in 1787.

Charles Thomson, secretary of the Continental Congress, while not a voting member of the Congress, was its permanent secretary from 1774 through the 15 years of the Congress' existence to 1789.

At least two Pennsylvania delegates to the 1787 Congress refused to sign the Declaration and were replaced, but served the nation with distinction both before and after that time. They were Thomas Willing and John Dickinson.

Benjamin Franklin, 70 years old in 1776, was the most prominent in the colonies, was a man of wealth and influence equally respected on both sides of the Atlantic.

He had lived in London in 1724-1727, as a youth, and from 1757 to 1762, as a special agent of the Pennsylvania Assembly representing its interests against the interests of the proprietary Penn family, and again in 1775.

He was to represent colonial interests in Paris from 1776 to 1785.

In Philadelphia in 1775-1776, Madison, he was a delegate to the second Continental Congress and a member of a committee of five that drafted the Declaration of Independence.

After his return to the United States in 1785, in his 80th year, he was elected to the Senate from Pennsylvania in 1785-1788, and played an important role in the Constitutional Convention of 1787.

Reverend Morris, born in Liverpool, but in Philadelphia since he was 13, had acquired a fortune as a merchant. He became a member of the provincial assembly in 1775, serving until 1787, and he also was elected to the Continental Congress in 1776-1778.

Although originally opposed to the Declaration of Independence, he signed the document in August 1776, when the formal signature occurred, and Charles Thomson, secretary of the Continental Congress, while not a voting member of the Congress, was its permanent secretary from 1774 through the 15 years of the Congress' existence to 1789.

At least two Pennsylvania delegates to the 1787 Congress refused to sign the Declaration and were replaced, but served the nation with distinction both before and after that time. They were Thomas Willing and John Dickinson.

Pact Announced by President Bars Further Steel Import Inroads into American Market

As President Richard M. Nixon said Saturday, steel import agreements reached by the U.S., Japan, the United Kingdom, Belgium, France, West Germany, Italy, Luxembourg and The Netherlands are "a substantial improvement over the arrangements of the last three years."

The newly-achieved understanding "will enable domestic steel producers to make their plans with confidence that imports will not be disruptive in the domestic market. It will help preserve the jobs of American steel workers," Mr. Nixon noted.

The accord, climaxing a year of talks covers 1972-74 shipments. It supplants more generous voluntary quotas that went into effect in 1969.

Under the old rules, foreign steelmakers could increase their exports to the U.S. at a rate of 5% annually. The new limits will be yearly increases of 2 1/2%, which is about the rate at which the total American market has been growing. As a result, through 1974, imports are likely to be held to their estimated level of 15% of the U.S. market.

The eight nations initiating the curbs jointly account for about 85% of the steel mill products brought into this country from overseas. It was the first time the United Kingdom participated in such a voluntary pact.

The foreign producers agreed to special curbs on high-priced specialty steel, such as stainless, tool and other alloys. Tonnage restrictions on stainless and other alloy steels for 1972 and 1973 will represent rollbacks from the actual 1971 shipments.

Restraints also have been placed on fabricated structural steels, not covered under the 1969-71 arrangement, and on shipments of cold-finished steel bars.

It's easier to see both sides of an argument if you're not really concerned about it.

Those Who Like Sen. Percy's Style Include The New Jersey Master Hairdressers' Group

Our man in Atlantic City points out that the New Jersey Master Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association has just singled out U.S. Senator Charles H. Percy of Illinois for an unprecedented recognition.

Acknowledging the growing male patronage of hair stylists, the association for the first time rated men's coiffures. Percy was the only member of Congress or the Senate adjudged to sport an attractive head of hair.

Two other politicians named as winners were New York City Mayor John Lindsay and New Jersey State Senator Joseph McGahn. They join such other honored individuals as television's David Cassidy, Dick Cavett, But Reynolds and Dan Rather, actor Ryan O'Neil, golfer Arnold Palmer and band leader Doc Severinsen.

If Senator Percy's hair is styled—and his staff purports not to know—at least it is done so naturally that it does not proclaim itself like the hairdos of some of his colleagues, notably Senator John W. Ford of California, who might add, like that of his late fellow senator, Everett Dirksen.

The generation gap is nothing new; newsmen have known for years that 30 means "the end."

State Has a Talent Bank of Shared Professionals

By JOAN MURARO

Copley News Service

Springfield — If you need a book for a short time you can go to the library. If you need a cup of sugar you can run over to the neighbors.

But where do you go if you need a short term loan of a traffic engineer, a personnel administrator, a public utilities director, for your small town, or a supervisor of assessments for your county?

If you're knowledgeable, you go to Harry Holling, head of the community services division of the state department of local government affairs.

Holling's office will dip into its talent bank of shared professionals, and try and find just what you need.

As an inducement to let the community from which they're borrowing him permit him to take a few days off to serve another community, the division offers to reimburse the lending community the expert's salary for the days he is away.

Since many of the jobs can be—and have been—done in three to eight days, not a great deal of money is involved.

But the division finds the remuneration usually does the trick, plus the prestige of the community knowing its expert is so good someone else wants to borrow him.

The experts generally find they enjoy the brief change of job and pace and the challenge of facing some new problems, so it works out for everybody.

The department has a budget of only $25,000 for fiscal year 1972, and so it has adopted a "rule of thumb." Any job which probably will take longer than 10 days or cost more than $1,000 in reimbursement is too large for the operation they have set up.

"Our office was set up," Holling said, "to help out the small community or county which may need someone with particular expertise for some immediate problem, but can't afford to maintain all these professionals on their staffs year-round—and probably wouldn't need them if they could."

His example is a traffic congestion problem near an industrial area, plaguing Effingham. His office located a traffic engineer in Decatur who agreed to assist. In three days the engineer made a short study and submitted recommendations which solved Effingham's problem.

On the county level, Holling's office has found a supervisor of assessments who agreed to go into another county and show them how he had set up his bookkeeping system.

In East St. Louis, a public works engineer was needed and the division found a former municipal public works director who made an eight-day study. He submitted recommendations which gave the city the specific information it needed.

His services are provided strictly on a request basis. Holling said. The department was established in January 1970 and the division became active in July 1970. About 30 cases have either been completed or are in progress.

State Status—Daley to Lead

Kennedy Boom?

By KEN WATSON

Copley News Service

Springfield—Politics in Illinois

has taken on an Alice in Wonderland quality.

A return to the Statehouse scene after three weeks' absence finds one questioning his memory of events' past.

Was there really a primary election in March and did it actually produce one of the biggest upsets in Illinois political history?

Was it independent Daniel Walker whom the Democrats nominated or was it the organization choice, Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, after 19? What about Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley? Did the last of the big-city bosses really suffer his worst loss or did his machine, in fact, run rough-shod over the opposition as always?

Eddging by the tide of speculation now flowing from the Statehouse Dome, nothing has changed as far as Democrat politics are concerned.

The Chicago party establishment still looks on the mayor as the unchallenged director of its affairs.

And if anyone expects Dan Walker to exert any leadership in political or legislative matters, he is hard to find around the legislator-crowded Capitol.

Not only is Daley still accepted as the unquestioned boss of Illinois Democrats, he has in recent days taken on renewed stature as a national kingmaker.

In Illinois, at least, a lot of Democrats are now taking it almost for granted that U.S. Sen. Edward "Ted" Kennedy of Massachusetts will wind up party nominating for President and that the mayor will play the key role in bringing this about.

It is incredible to think that a politician who took such a pasting on his home grounds should be accorded such national deference, but there it is.

The Chicago-Illinois loyalists who appear underdressed by the fact that Daley's assumed control of 50 uncommitted Illinois delegates to the National Convention may be seriously and effectively challenged by the reform forces led by Presidential contender U.S. Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota.

So deep is the faith of Illinois Democrats in their champion that they appear supremely confident that "the boss" will prevail even on the national stage.

Nor is the Daley sequel the only fascinating post-primary development.

U.S. Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, who tied himself to the presumed Presidential handwoven of U.S. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine early in the game, still claims to be untroubled by the Muskie collapse.

Like Daley in his primary debacle, Stevenson ignores what has happened, fixes a hopeful smile and proceeds as if nothing has happened.

But nobody at the Statehouse is talking about him for vice-president anymore.

In Springfield, the professor of political science is less interested in national ramifications as in those directly involving control of state government.

The continued party loyalty to Daley and the obvious failure of organization Democrats to warm up to Walker could affect the November outcome in Illinois.

Democrats, for their part, would probably welcome a Daley-led effort to would culminate in the nomination of Ted Kennedy. They feel Nixon would carry Illinois over Kennedy without too much difficulty.

As far as the governorship and other races are concerned, the GOP would like to see the political spotlight remain on Daley for at least another campaign.

BRIGHTEN PYRACANTHA
A fungus disease of pyracantha causes many plants to grow normally but rarely have berries.

Scab disease of pyracantha causes dark sooty spots on the leaves and berries clusters soon after bloom. The fungus gradually spreads causing leaf drop and blighting of developing berries.

Control requires weekly sprays with Captan, Ferbam or Phalan. Begin spraying when new leaves are 1/2 inch long and continue until two weeks after bloom. Follow the package directions for spraying apple trees. Cover both sides of the developing leaves and flower clusters. Add Malathion if aphids appear on your plants. Prune out dead limbs or any branches or twigs which suddenly wilt.

CANNAS AND DAHLIAS
These two garden favorites will give you extra performance if you start them early. Undivided clumps should be planted in pots or flats of soil and placed in a warm sunny spot. As soon as shoots develop the clumps can be divided and each root planted in the flat. Proper watering and protection from the cold are both important to obtain vigorous plants.

In early May these new plants will be ready to transplant to the garden and be well under way toward early flowering and extra performance.

If you enjoy the flowers but dislike the apples, a simple spray program will usually work.

Two spray applications of carbaryl (one trade name is DDT) will prevent fruit development. The first application immediately after bloom and a second in two weeks will nearly eliminate the fruit from developing. Thorough wetting of the entire tree is necessary for good effect.

If you use carbaryl as a 50% material, mix five tablespoons in three gallons of water. This mixture will also work on regular apple trees.

Scott Recovers School Funds, Cuts Budget, Appeals Ruling Upsetting Ethics Law

Attorney General William J. Scott last week cited three developments which he described as "Positive news for the people of Illinois."

He announced that: 1. The Attorney General's office has recovered funds of approximately $1,245,000 for schools throughout Illinois from two antitrust "price-fixing" suits. The suits involve purchase of textbooks and plumbingware at artificially-inflated prices.

2. He has reduced his yearly budget from $8,350,671 to $7,702,035, a cutback of $648,636. Major cuts are in the areas of equipment, printing and contractual services.

3. He has appealed an "unconstitutional" ruling on the State Ethics Act. Scott said he has filed with the Illinois Supreme Court an appeal of the April 25 decision by Cook County Circuit Judge Daniel A. Corvelli that newly-enacted state ethics legislation is invalid. The attorney general said he anticipates a ruling by the State Supreme Court before the legislature adjourns.

Scott told the Illinois Association of School Business Officials at noon today that his office has recovered a total of $1,080,000 from 18 book publishers and 13 distributors in a "price-fixing" suit involving purchase of children's editions.

Scott, principal speaker at the first general session luncheon of the school fiscal officials, meeting at Springfield, said 130 school districts have already received repayments of $455,000 and another $645,000 will be available for distribution to the schools within 60 days.

Scott said a second antitrust suit — involving purchase of plumbingware by 110 schools and other governmental institutions — will recover slightly more than $165,000.

Scott handed over many of these repayment checks to school business officials from affected districts at the convention.

Both suits were class actions,

Granite City PRESS-RECORD
Page 24 Mon., May 8, 1972

which allowed the schools involved to join in the attorney general's suit without cost.

Scott noted that the legal actions were begun by former Illinois Attorney General William G. Clark and completed in the Scott's administration. "The attorney general said his budget for the fiscal year ahead will be reduced by $648,636. He noted that equipping the new attorney general's office — designed and appropriated in the William G. Clark years — is now almost complete.

In Scott's words it, "will adequately serve the people of Illinois for the next two decades at least."

Completion of the new building brought under the same roof such divisions as consumer protection, inheritance tax and other matters previously housed in different buildings.

This effected certain savings by bringing all divisions to one location, Scott said. Other cuts have been made in the sectors of printing and contractual services, while contributions to Social Security and retirement funds have increased.

Scott noted that his budget cuts were commended by "the other side of the aisle (Democrats)." Scott said he filed an appeal May 3 of the State Ethics Act ruling.

He commented that the Illinois Supreme Court is expected to hear and determine the appeal before the current session of the General Assembly adjourns, thus allowing either legislative or judicial action on the measure before summer.

Scott added, "I truly believe that the confidence of many Illinoisans in their government has been shaken to the core by recent disclosures of alleged impropriety in office. The real word, perhaps is 'breed'."

"At the hour of ethics legislation is overdue and I have therefore placed the matter of the constitutionality of the State Ethics Act before the Illinois Supreme Court.

"The demand for this kind of 'safeguard' legislation — thought it is limited — is thunderous. The people of Illinois are not going to settle for anything less than total candor by their elected officials."

Bertschi on Christian Science Church Board

News of special interest to Christian Scientists and others here is the announcement by the Christian Science board of directors that Otto Bertschi, practitioner and teacher from Zurich, Switzerland, will succeed Board Member Clayton Bion Craig of Boston, who has had more than 23 years of active service on the board.

Bertschi, who has frequently lectured in this area is a native of Zurich and the first individual from overseas to become a director of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

The newly expanded Christian Science Center in Boston came into being as a result of Craig's leadership and planning. He also is credited with extension of the copyright of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy.

Craig is remembered for his work in bringing about legal recognition of the healing practice of Christian Science in Ohio. He has been in Illinois many times as a lecturer and as a director of the Mother Church.

Craig was one of those present at a ceremony marking the laying of the cornerstone of a new 25-story administrative building on a 15-acre site in the Back Bay section of Boston, where construction of the Center began four years ago and is scheduled for completion late this year.

In the cornerstone was placed a sealed box containing Christian Science periodicals in various languages and the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, discoverer and founder. The building of sculptured concrete will house the general administrative offices of the Mother Church for its world headquarters.

At the heart of the Center is the Original Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, and its domed Extension.

Mrs. Lenore D. Hanks, chairman of the Christian Science board, said in commenting on the significance of the Center, "It represents our desire for the Church of Christ, Scientist, to increase its spiritual outreach to all mankind."
